NUMB. 3244

WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1744.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Flanders.

Leghorn, July 11.

On the 15th of this Month there arrived here an English Man of War, with a very large Transport, on board which they embarked, on the 6th, a good Quantity of Catle, and were daily putting on board vast Quantities of Biscuit to the 9th, when those Vessels failed to join the Fleet at Vado.

Yesterday in the Evening there arrived two large Men of War, and three Bomb Vessels; soon after, two Fire Ships and four Men of War. It is said, this Squadron is intended for the Bombardment of Naples. According to the last Advices from the Frontiers of Dauphiny, the French and Spaniards cannot possibly get there till the beginning of August; and it is hoped, that his Sardian Majesty, by the Precautions he has taken, will be able to defend the Passages into his Dominions so effectually, as to hinder their penetrating that Way into Italy. The King depending on the Valour of his Troops, which, at the same Time, are superior in Number to the Common Army, has declared, that he will defend his own Country singly, and without Assistance. However, Admiral Matthews keeps always a Body of 4000 Men ready to land, if his Majesty should have Occasion for them. The same Advices say, that the King of Sarinina has lately received a Remittance of 120,000 Scudi from London.

Frankfort, July 16. We have no News worth writing from either of the Armies. With that of France we cannot correspond, and Prince Charles of Lorraine forbids, under severe Penalties, any of his Officers writing hither. This is the Reason that we are able to say nothing of what has passed at Fort Louis. All we know with Certainty, is, that the Austrians have sent for a Train of heavy Artillery from Fribourg; to which Place they have likewise sent 528 Prisoners, Imperialists and Hessians, as well as French; many of which are dangerously wounded. The Waters of the Rhine, the Neckar, and some other Rivers, by suddenly overflowing their Banks, have so spoil'd the Roads, as to stop to the Operations of the Austrians. The Waters have, particularly, carried away a Bridge thrown over the Neckar, which unhappily sunk to the Bottom, with 20 People upon it, who had no other Business here than to stare at the Inundation.

Bamur, July 14. All the private Letters from the Army of Prince Charles of Lorraine, continue to bring us the most acceptable Intelligence that can be. It is said, his Serene Highness intends to make himself Master of Landau, Fort Louis, and some other Places, where the Succours, intended for M. Coigny, can arrive; and after he has conquer'd the Lower Alsace, he proposes to enter Lorraine, which being yielded to France, in Condition the guaranteed Pragmatic Sanction, is now reverted to its ancient Sovereign, thro' the French King's Breach of Faith. His Highness has given Orders, that his Troops should observe the strictest Discipline; which has had so good an Effect, that the Country People bring Provisions in great plenty to his Army; and pay, very cheerfully, the Contributions which he has it necessary to impose.

From the Camp at Enghien, July 29.

A Detachment of French Troops that thought to have surprised one of our independent Companies, have failed in their Design, thro' the Precautions taken by the Duke of Arberg; who sent so timely a Reinforcement, as obliged them to retire, without attempting any Thing.

Arnhem Camp, August 1. This Morning the Allied Army passed the Schelde in several Columns; and the Right Wing is encamped near Singhen, and the Left at Mousghem. The Quarter-Masters General are reconnoitering the Country towards Courtrai, and it is thought they will march that Way.

Paris, July 28. This Moment we learn, that on the 18th Instant the Attacks were made in the Mountains of Piedmont; that the French and Spaniards had taken by Storm the Castle of Dauphin and Demont, but that they lost 150 Officers kill'd, or wounded, and 4000 Men. The Bailiff de Givry mortally wounded, M. Danois, M. le Duc d'Agnois, M. de la Carte, M. d'Aubertre, kill'd; M. de Chausse wounded, and all the principal Officers either kill'd or wounded.

Extrait from a Private Letter, Haguc, July 23, 1744.

The Passage of the Rhine has excited the warmest

Struggles between the Parties in this Country that have been ever known. Those attached to the Austrians seemed to consider it as a decisive Stroke, and actually spoke as if a Road was thereby open'd to Paris. They look'd upon the Marshal Seckendorff and Coigny as absolutely cut off; took it for granted that their Armies could no longer keep the Field; and that Landau, Strasburgh, and Twenty other Places, were to throw their Gates open in an Instant. The Power of the French, which but a Moment before the Arrival of this News, was so enormous as to endanger the Liberties of all Europe, was now in low, so broken, and so dispirited, that nothing but a brisk Push was wanting to overturn it quite, and render practicable the famous Scheme of lopping the French Monarchy, in Favour of some potent Neighbours; or raising certain new Sovereignities on the Ruins of that Kingdom. Such wonderful Effects were immediately to follow what was called the miraculous Passage of the Rhine.

All the Partizans of France (and here are, Heaven knows, but too many) seem'd to receive all this for Gospel. When once the Fact of Prince Charles's passing the Rhine was established, they admitted all the Additions without Dispute. They scarce pitied the dying Coigny, or the deserted Seckendorff; for, you know, the former was kill'd, and the latter taken, in all the last Accounts from Germany; nay, some Accounts sent him to Vienna, to be tried for Desertion by a Court Martial. But when these ridiculous Stories were disproved, when it was, on all Hands, acknowledged, that the Imperialists had made a good Retreat, and when it was known they had forced the Lines of Weissenburgh, immediately the Tables turned; the French Partizans began to boast the Passage was a mere Accident, nay, a Contrivance of Coigny's, to draw Prince Charles's Cross and Pandours into the Hands of French Regular Troops, who destroy'd them by Thousands; and would soon force the Prince over the River again, and so put an End to the Campaign.

But what is most extraordinary, and indeed, altogether unaccountable, is this; that Persons of Birth and Breeding, good Sense and good Education, are carried along by the Stream of Popular Clamour, and think this Way, or that, just as the Humour runs. It is very strange, that People will not examine Things, before they judge of them, but let their Passions hurry them into irrational Expectations, which never can be satisfied; and then suffer them to turn foul with Disappointments; and impute that to Neglect and Delay, which, because it was impossible, never was, or could be intended. Such wrong-headed Politicians may put on what Airs of Significance they will, talk of having Things from good Hands, and boast of hearing the Sentiments of great Men on these Subjects; but it is nevertheless certain, they know nothing of the Matter: Praise, without a just Sense of Merit, censure without any good Grounds, and while they fancy they display their Wisdom, really run themselves into Contempt with all who hear, and can judge of their Dispute.

The Passage of the Rhine is a most glorious, a most Soldier-like Action. A Thousand times more so than the Passage of Lewis XIV, for this was done by Judgment, and without Loss; that rashly performed, and with much Slaughter. Prince Charles outwitted two as good Officers as there are perhaps in Europe; the intrepid Seckendorff, and the prudent Coigny. But the Passage was not all. In order to it, his Highness was forced to divide his Army; and after he had passed, it was necessary to dispose all Things with due Respect to his dispersed Forces, harass'd too with a March of near 70 Miles. It cannot, it ought not indeed, to be denied, that M. Coigny took a bold, or to speak properly, a desperate Resolution, of forcing the Lines of Weissenburgh, without there was no returning to Alsace; but he must have remained cooped up between Prince Charles's Army, and the Forces from Bavaria. It was not so much an Attack, as a Fight thro' Weissenburgh. Coigny himself acknowledges this by the Word he gave to his Army, Passer ou Mourir; i. e. Pass or Die. They behaved so bravely here, as to open a Road to run away.

But Nadault made a noble Resistance. Fortatish made a glorious Stand; he alone was sensible they were flying, and sacrificed himself to stop their Flight. Prince Charles arrived in a few Hours. It was indeed too late, considering the Action; but most amazingly soon, if you consider the March. Then, to say this Stroke has done nothing, is to out-lye the French. Has it not, in the first Place, saved Flanders? Did not Abbe de ——— openly declare, his Master meant to add Nieuport, Oostend, Bruges, Ghent, Oudenarde, Tournay, Mons, and Charleroy this Year to his Conquests? Has it not given the Austrians an Opportunity of taking Winter Quarters in the Enemy's Country? Has it not changed the Face of Things here? And are not its Effects yet in the Womb of Time, which may still do greater Things in other Places; perhaps bring the Court of France to discern its true Interests, and free Germany from the Apprehension of Foreigners for ever?

HOME PORTS.

Also came in the Hawk Privateer from a Cruise, and has brought in with her the Angle Mary Galley, Corner, from Amsterdam, with Gunpowder, &c. She says she was bound to Oporto, but there is Reason to believe otherwise.

L O N D O N.

His most Christian Majesty has sent Orders to M. Belleisle, to set out immediately for the Rhine; where he is to share the Command with M. de Coigny.

They write from Berlin, that a great Body of Troops are in full march for Prussia; and that his Majesty has declared he intends to follow them in Person.

They write from Lauterbourg, that the Desertion amongst the French does not yet cease; and we see by their Muster Rolls, which have been intercepted, that from the 1st to the 18th Instant, the Number of their Dead, Wounded, Prisoners, and Deserters, amounts to above 12,000 Men.

We hear from Landau, that Prince Charles's Hussars do their Duty so well about that Place, that nothing can go in, or come out, without Danger of falling into their Hands. Sixty Oxen, which were conducting thither, were taken some Days since; and the Garrison is already in Want of Salt.

A few Days since died William Chetwynd, Esq. Brother to the late Governor of Barbados; by whose Death a considerable Annuity reverts to Sir Nicholas Hackett, Clerk of Beddington, Barr.

The Terrible Privateer, of Liverpool, has taken a Prize laden with Wine and Fruit; which his Lieutenant carried into Cork on the 19th Instant.

On Friday about Noon 35 Horsemen, double armed with Bunderbushes, Carbines, Pistols, &c. came to Barrowhedges, on the Edge of Binstead Downs, where they spent 17 h. by Ten at Night. During their Stay there, they suffer'd no one who enter'd the House to go before them, except some who belong'd to themselves. From this Place they went to Merstham, a Village within four Miles of Rygate, where they continued the great-st Part of the Night. It is supposed their Design was to rescue John Grayling, who had been transported for Smuggling, at an Assizes at Sussex, and was lately taken in a Cutter from Bologne; but was last Friday at Croydon, in his Way to Horsham, under the Guard of an Officer, and about 30 Foot Soldiers. Which Officer being inform'd of this Assembly, and apprehensive of an Attack, acquainted his Prisoner that Evening, that if any Attempt was made to rescue him, he would, on the first Appearance of any People to that Purpose, directly shoot him thro' the Head; (of this, 'tis presumed, Grayling gave his Friends at Mertham Notice, who abruptly left the Place before Morning) by which Means, and detaining his Prisoner at Croydon till Saturday Morning, he conveyed him safe to Horsham, where the Assizes were to begin Yesterday.

We hear from Pool, that Mr. Jos. Wadham is chosen High Sheriff of this Town and County, in the Room of William Skinner, Gent. deceased.

Last Sunday died, after a long Illness, in advanced Years, Mrs. Le Blanc, Mother to Mr. Simon Le Blanc, an eminent Merchant in Love Lane, Eastcheap.

The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have appointed the Hon. John Bingham, Esq; to be Captain of the Winchester, a 50 Gun Ship.

Their Lordships have likewise been pleased to appoint Sir William Hewet to be Captain of the Louisa, a 60 Gun Ship, formerly Captain of the Winchester.

This Days 31 Days Subsistence will be issued out at the Pay Office, Whitehall, to his Majesty's Forces; viz. from the 25th of July to the 24th of August, inclusive.

Yesterday John Katesmark was committed to Woodstreet Compter, on Suspicion of breaking open his Fellow-Servant's Trunk, and taking out two Guineas.

The Tickets for the present Lottery being issued out from the Bank, are now delivering at the State Lottery Office under the Royal Exchange,

Kept by J. HAZARD,

And at his other Office fronting Stationers Hall, near Ludgate.

BUGGS Destroyed.

BUGGS Whereas I have for many Years, with success, made it my business to destroy those noxious Vermin called BUGGS, out of Houses, Places, and other Buildings, by a reasonable Price, the same being done with a Preparative no way offensive, and out the least Damage either to Bed, Bedding, or Furniture, be the same ever so good; and after I have destroyed them, any should happen the following Year to be brought in by Peepers, Claws, or other Houses, which may happen in new Furniture, or to those that I have card and cleaned, which I can assure you, I promise to cure them gratis, and will be ready to agree for any Number of Years, may, at a small Sum, depend on having their Furniture kept eternally from them. Therefore, those that are pecked, and will be waited upon, by sending a Line for that purpose to me JOHN WILLIAMS, at Janeway's Coffee-House, near the Royal Exchange, or at the Rainbow in Lancaster-Row, Charing-Cross, or at my own House in Duke's Court, over against the George Alehouse, in Oldstreet.

ANTI-SYPHILICON.

THE only short and most infallible Cure in the Universe for the Venereal Disease, from the slightest Infection to the most extreme and dangerous Degree of it, even when the Blood and Juices are thoroughly contaminated with its malignant Virus, and the very Bones are affected with it.

Fresh Infections, call'd CLAPS, with all their attending Symptoms, tho' ever so severe, are entirely cured by it in a few Days, and so as effectually to prevent the Blood and Juices from being tainted with any remaining Venereal on one Hand, or a seminal Gleet or Weakness to happen on the other.

And the most inveterate Degree of the French Ulcer, attended with Nocturnal Pains, universal breaking out, and all the other most exasperated Symptoms, are overcome by it, and effectually and much more safely cured than by Salivation, Inunction, or any other violent whatever, and in so easy and pleasant a Manner, without impairing Strength, or occasioning any Inconvenience, as to bespeak it the only apposite Remedy, or true Venereal Antidote in the World; and this some Thousand have to their great Joy experienced.

It is pleasant to take, occasions no Sickness or Pain, nor requires Confinement; but may be taken, and the Cure be accomplish'd, without the Knowledge of the nearest Friend.

Those who suspect they have received an Injury, by only a Dose or two of it, be perfectly free from all Apprehensions; for it suffers no lurking Venom to remain in the Body, but wholly extirpates it Root and Branch, in a gentle, easy, and most effectual Manner.

All such likewise as doubt they have some remaining Effects of former Injuries, may by a few Doses of it entirely free themselves from all Suspicion of that Kind, by it is cured no Pouliness, Corruption, or Putrefaction, either in the main in the Fluids, or to adhere to the Skin, as in the Account, in all scorbatick, scrophulous, and venereal Eruptions or Poulinesses of the Skin, Glandular swellings and Impurities of the Juices, it does more in one Day, than any other Medicine yet known can by it.

The Price of this most Noble Anti-Syphiliticon is but Six Shillings a Pot, which, considering its extraordinary efficacy, one Pot only being sufficient in most Cases to accomplish the Cure, is not a tenth Part of its Value; and is supplied by the Author to be had only at Mr. RAYMOND'S Toyshop, at the Rose and Crown against St. Clement's Church-Yard in the Strand, ready sealed up with a List of Instructions, by the Perusal of which, all Persons who are ever affected with any Degree of the Venereal Disease, may perfectly understand their own Condition, and exactly know when, and when not, the Venereal Poison is entirely rooted out of their Bodies.

Note, Ask only for a Six Shilling Pot for the Syphilis.

The uncommon Success, above Every Year last past, of so much famed and only true Original ROYAL CHYMICAL WASH-BALL.

FOR beautifying the Face, Neck, and Hands; hath induced many Envious Persons, and in every Part of London, but in many Places in the County, to sell a Counterfeit White Ball (which may prove prejudicial, as well as ineffectual) in Imitation of the true one.

To prevent as much as possible any Mistakes in Purchasing our Customers, we give this special Notice, That the Ball is now sold only at Mrs. Wharton's Toyshop, the Rose and Crown, near the Royal-Exchange in Cornhill, and at Mrs. Stephens (was Dunn) a Milliner, now removed to the Blue Ball near the Middle-Temple Gate in Fleetstreet. The Ball is sold at 1s. each Ball, or 12 to the Dozen; but no Allowance for less than 12 Balls at a Time, nor will they ever be sold any other else, except Notice be first given in these Advertisements.

Their true and real Virtues have been sufficiently attested all the Years that they have been Sold by Publication, and more so, as they are still more than ever used, and admired by both Sexes of the best Quality, and many Thousands of others, for making the Skin so delicately soft and white, as not to be paralleled by any Wash or Wash-Ball, of any Kind or Form; for these Balls are indeed real Beautifiers of the Skin, by taking off all Deformities, as Tetter, Ringworm, Morpew, Sunburn, Scurf, Pimples, Pits, or Redness of the Face, and keeping it of a lasting and extreme Whiteness. They soon alter red or rough Hands, are admirable in dressing the Head, not only giving a most exquisite Disposition to the Razor, but so comfort the Brain and Nerves, as to prevent catching Cold. They are of a graceful, and pleasant Smell, without the least Grain of Mercury, and may be used with their Safety.
